YOUR PROBLEMS

by Ann Landers

'Put A Bolt on Your Door—Use It'

Dear Ann Landers: I live in a large apartment house in Los Angeles. Most of the tenants are older people who are scared to death of burglars so they keep their doors locked and bolted. I was born and raised in Clinton, Iowa, and nobody in our town ever locked his door. I've made quite a joke of my wacky neighbors and have sworn I would never lock my door no matter what. Now this is the problem:

I have relatives in this city who don't even bother to knock. They come right in and yell "Yoo Hoo." It doesn't make any difference if you are undressed, in the bathtub, or what. They just go from room to room looking for me.

Should I tell these people to please knock and hope they will not be insulted or should I eat my words? — WISHING PRIVACY

Dear Wisher: Look, friend, Los Angeles is a far cry from Clinton.

Put a bolt on your door and use it. One of these fine days somebody will wander in and it won't be your Aunt Minnie from Sioux City.

Dear Ann Landers: My husband's former wife is a lush. She lives 600 miles away and calls him collect three times a week. She babbles on and on about how the kids miss him and when he is coming to spend a few days with them.

I know the woman is sick sick and I wouldn't mind so much if the calls were helping her but she always phones when she's in the sauce and doesn't remember the next day that she spoke with him.

This woman wears a leopard coat and drives a Chrysler. (My coat is a smart tweed and I ride the bus). My husband pays heavy alimony and support money for their two children.

Our phone bill was $58 in September and $54 in October. (Continued on Page 10)
